

5 steps on how to start a brand

Rocklyn “Rdot” Bright

1step : Name of the brand

Finding the name of your brand is very important if not they most important, so it has to be something unique and meaningful because it's what giong to attract consumers to your product.

Step 2: Design

Now your next step is designing your product and make sure you do your research though and have a vision on what you want and what your target market is and focus on that and eventually you will eventually create something.

Step 3 : Finding Manufacturer

Okay so you made this far good job proud of you, so now peep game and lock in. Your next step is finding a manufacturer big bro gotcha so you have to find manufacturers website you can do that by looking it up or watch youtube videos but they go to is definitely alibaba, so now you're alibaba you have to find who can make your vision and matches your price range too. P.s don't chose no pakistan manufacturer no racist stuff they just scam you fr china is they move and make sure they are verified.

Step 4: MARKETING

So now you've done the other step and now you have to create attention to product so you will have more consumers and you that by creating ads, making tiktok, instagram or you could get creative and make a documentary or even make a trailer for your product.

Step 5: ship your product or don't?

So now you're done. All you have to do is ship your product or don't don't if your scammer and tried the infinite money clitch

Questions ?

Citation

All from my brain.